

Kevin McConville
Senior Regional Managing Partner
Gallup

Kevin McConville is a Senior Regional Managing Partner with Gallup as well as a member of its Executive Committee. In this role, he is responsible for overseeing all of Gallup's partners and clients on the East Coast and within Gallup's healthcare division. McConville has extensive consulting experience with clients throughout the world in many different industries and on issues that include workplace improvement, employee engagement, customer/patient loyalty and engagement, hospital leadership, and well-being.

McConville often serves as a keynote speaker at conferences and a lecturer at universities on workplace and healthcare issues. He is a member of the advisory board of the Center for Health Transformation founded by Newt Gingrich.

McConville received a bachelor's degree in economics from Loyola College in Baltimore. He has completed courses in the master's in business leadership program at the University of Nebraska-Lincoln. As part of his master's program, he studied lean management at University of Toyota and international business at Oxford University.